Campfires

Could we possibly do something else instead of building many of our campfires?

Is there a rule somewhere that says that campfires must always be built on the ground?

Can we find ways to bring in firewood where the local ecosystem can't spare any?

Campfires are an important part of our Scouting educational methods and our Scouting traditions - do we have to give them up completely

...OR....

do we have to get a lot smarter about how and when we make them?
