

3: Dispose of Waste Properly

SANITATION

LIQUID WASTE

The salt in urine may attract wildlife.

Animals can defoliate plants and dig up soil to get at the salts.

- It is best to urinate on rocks and in sand and in places that will not attract wildlife.
- Write your name while urinating to spread waste and discourage wildlife.
- Urinate at least 200 feet away from water sources.
- Waste water should be filtered through an old nylon or aquarium net.
- Water used for cleaning should be used and disposed of at least 200 feet away from water sources. "Broadcast" when dumping.
